September 4, 2020

Woohoo!

Congratulations to Outstanding 4-H Exhibitor for 2020, Sarah Kovich! Kudos as well to the Reserve winners, Aryana Police and Kaylee Kapanowski! All of the finalists brought an immense body of 4-H work to the contest, making the judges sweat! Well done!

New Stuff:

Snohomish County Youth Advisory Council

This emerging group of young leaders now has an Instagram account. Follow the 4-H Youth Advisory Council at youthcouncil.snoco4H on Instagram. Youth who would like to participate can watch Instagram or look here in the CloverGram for future meeting announcements.

Explore 4-H October 10th, 10:00 a.m.

All online, this annual “open house” introduction to 4-H will be different this year. (Surprise, surprise!) All are welcome! Spread the word to interested families to join us on 10/10 at 10:00 here: <https://wsu.zoom.us/j/98243247029?pwd=MEw2TnVvdHVzc0xZRkFxOW03eWMxUT09>

SurveyPalooza

When you think you cannot possibly fill out one more survey, rest assured that your input really DOES make a difference! Your feedback matters! When you get that e-mail asking you to say what you think about the proposed 4-H Strategic Plan, please click the link! And remember that annual survey on how 4-H can be better? That’ll be coming back around soon! Thank you for using your voice!

COVID-19 Community Update

Reminders about all-remote programming, bandana access, and showcasing our youth’s 4-H work online, as well as an opportunity for youth to give their presentations to the Alderwood Terrace Rotary Club! See these updates here: <https://s3.wp.wsu.edu/uploads/sites/2053/2020/09/9.4.2020-Community-Statement.pdf>

Reminder:

4-H is Still All-Remote

Just in case you forgot...4-H across Washington state is happening without face-to-face interactions until Phase Four. If that changes, we will let you know immediately! If you’d like help organizing an online meeting or event, just let us know! We are happy to assist. Beth.wangen@wsu.edu
