BECOME A WSU LEWIS COUNTY MASTER GARDENER!

WSU Lewis County Master Gardeners provide public educational outreach and other resources generated from research at Washington State University and other university systems.

Our Program Priorities focus on Climate Change, Clean Water, Water Conservation, Soil Health, Pollinators, Local Food, Plant Biodiversity, Nearby Nature, and Wildfire Preparedness.

WSU Master Gardener volunteers are supported and trained to communicate gardening and environmental stewardship advice and to promote our Program Priorities through school-based programs, free public classes, our five demonstration gardens, and much more!

Gardening for Everyone is only one of the community education programs of the WSU Lewis County Master Gardeners and is offered in the spring and fall.

Contact us today to learn how you can join us. Enrollment is open all year round!
