

How to Fix Congress

A Public Symposium

Thursday, April 9

4:00pm | CUE 203

Greg Koger, Professor of political science at the University of Miami.

Koger authored Filibustering: A Political History of Obstruction of the House and Senate. He received his Ph. D from UCLA.

Peter Hanson, Professor of politics and law at the University of Denver

Hanson's area of expertise is the U.S. Congress and issues of party polarization. He received his Ph. D from University of California, Berkeley.

Is Congress broken? Why does it seem so hard to pass meaningful legislation? Professors Peter Hanson and Greg Koger will discuss the major problems, and suggest ways forward for our government.
