Students will have the skills necessary to carry on very elementary conversations in their language(s) of study.

2. Analytical Ability:

Students will create basic original thoughts in their language(s) of study. Students will gain knowledge of the structure of the language(s) and will therefore be able to use the vocabulary learned to form new thoughts and basic sentences. This ability will grow as students become more and more familiar with the structure of the language(s) of study.
