

HELP US LEARN ABOUT EARLY COMMUNICATION

JOIN A WSU STUDY FOR 12-MONTH-OLDS AND THEIR FAMILIES

The Communication Development Lab at Washington State University is looking for families with 12-month-old babies to participate in a research study about how young children communicate during a new assessment.

What's involved?

- A child assessment and parent interview via Zoom
- One visit to WSU Spokane lab for a developmental session and parent interview
- Total time 3.5-4.5 hours

Help us improve early communication tools for all children – your family can make a difference!

IRB 21034-002

Who can participate?

Babies who are 11-13 months old

Born full-term

No developmental concerns

Primarily exposed to English at home

Families will receive $160 in gift cards for completing all sessions
